

Asia University in collaboration with ClarityEnglish
presents
Bilingualism and the CEFR:
Exciting Challenges and Practical Advice
雙語教學與CEFR：挑戰與實踐

- Hello! ■ Define and explain the policy and mission of Bilingualism in Taiwan ■ 你好
■ Share the challenges and solutions of Bilingual education in the world ■ 我們會...
- We will... ■ Explain how the CEFR can benefit teachers and students

Speakers

Professor Yinghui Chen,
Professor & Dean of International College and College of Humanities and Social Sciences, Asia University

Dr. Sean McDonald,
Project Manager English Assessment,
etc Language Tests

Professor Zhao-Ming Gao,
National Taiwan University

Thom Jones, Director,
Atlantic College, Ireland

Moderator

Professor Chih-Chien Yang,
National Taichung University of Education

Wednesday, 26 May 2021
14:00 - 16:00 TST

Free Registration:
<http://bit.ly/DPTAU>

E-certificate for attendees

Professor Yinghui Chen has a BA in English from National Taiwan Normal University, an MA in Foreign Languages & Literature from National Taiwan University, and a PhD in English Literature from the University of Maryland, USA. Over the last 30 years Professor Chen has published prolifically: theses, books, conference papers and journal articles. His particular interests are Victorian literature, the English novel, cultural studies, English for specific purposes (ESP), the internationalization of higher education, and materials writing. As well as his international experience, Professor Chen has taught extensively in Taiwan, at National Sun Yat-sen University, National Kaohsiung First University of Science & Technology, National University of Kaohsiung, Fooyin University and, currently, Asia University.

Professor Yinghui Chen

Dr. Sean McDonald

Dr. Sean McDonald comes from California and has degrees from the University of California and University of Washington. He has taught and trained in various contexts: business, adult and higher education for over 30 years. He has taught at the University of Washington, the German Armed Forces University and the German Air Force Academy. Currently he is Head of English Language Assessment at tele Language Tests in Frankfurt Germany.

Professor Zhao-Ming Gao received his Ph.D. in language engineering from the University of Manchester Institute of Science and Technology (UMIST) in 1998. He has been affiliated with the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures at National Taiwan University since 1999. Professor Gao has a keen interest in developing corpus-based computational tools and has published extensively on corpus linguistics, computer-assisted translation, and intelligent computer-assisted language learning. He is the co-editor of the Routledge Handbook of Chinese Translation published in 2018 and has been involved in several major research projects in corpus linguistics in Taiwan.

Professor Zhao-Ming Gao

Thom Jones

Thom Jones has worked in international education for nearly 20 years. He has been a principal of schools in Indonesia, the USA and Greece and run international summer programmes in Oxford and Cambridge colleges. He is now a guest lecturer at three universities around the world and Director of Business Development at Atlantic College, Galway, Ireland. He is a freelance trainer in business and management, and is invited to speak at global conferences year round through his own company: Brock Solutions Agency. Most recently he has presented at NAFA, MEXTESOL, NEAS and closer to home at IATEFL.

